

HIDE AWAY IN THE NEW TREEHOUSE SUITE AT ULUSABA

June 2008. The thrill of watching big game up close and personal has just got even better at Ulusaba, Sir Richard Branson's South African private game reserve, with the introduction of a stunning new 'Treehouse suite' and open air viewing lounge.

The Treehouse Suite, overlooks the Xikwenga Dam, where hippos and elephants come to bathe and is perfect for those looking for a little more privacy and seclusion. Access to the suite takes 15 minutes by canopied footbridge from the main Safari Lodge so you can hide away with just the animals for company.

The new suite offers luxurious accommodation with king size bed, spacious lounge (with additional sofa bed), dining area for four guests and a private viewing deck. The en-suite features an oversized bath, separate shower, his / hers wash basins and best of all, floor to ceiling windows so you and the animals can bathe together!

Other creature comforts include full in-room bar, tea and coffee for that early morning wake up brew and torches and ponchos for when you venture back to the main lodge.

In addition, beyond the Treehouse Suite is another small bridge that leads to the Treehouse Lounge a beautiful open air viewing deck complete with loungers, self-service bar and binoculars. Perfect for sundowners and outside dining (for up to 20 guests) to celebrate a special occasion with friends or a corporate event.

Set on the Sabi Sand Game Reserve in South Africa, Ulusaba brings the thrill, adventure and safari traditions of Africa to life in an exclusive and luxurious setting. With two unique safari experiences guests can choose between the breathe taking panoramas of the bush below from Rock Lodge, perched high on the summit of a 'koppie', or be at the very heart of bush life at Safari Lodge, where the new tree house suite is located, at the foot of the hill.

The Treehouse Suite rates start from R7800 (approx. £514) per person per night but to celebrate its opening a special rate of R6000 (approx. £395) applies for all bookings made for stays during August 2008. Rates also include use of the main Safari Lodge facilities (including laundry), all meals and drinks, twice daily game drives plus local airstrip transfers.
