DAY EXCURSIONS BY CAR

Tin Mal Mosque and Tizi n' Test

Explore the historic Tin Mal Mosque, a rare gem open to non-Muslims in Morocco. Dating back to the 12th century, it boasts captivating architecture and rich history. Afterward, drive along the scenic Tizi n'Test Pass, connecting Taroudant and Marrakech. Journey past ancient Berber villages, orchards, and stunning landscapes. Opt for a café stop or picnic lunch along the way.

Driving time: 6-7 hours

Cost: MAD 4,500 for maximum four people

Lunch expenses are not included in the price.

Tin Mal Mosque and the Village of Ouirgane

The 12th-century Tin Mal Mosque is among just two mosques in Morocco accessible to non-Muslims. With its stunning architecture and rich history, it's a captivating sight to behold. After your visit, head back to the village of Ouirgane, where you will enjoy mint tea and pay a visit to a Berber family.

Driving time: 3-4 hours

Cost: MAD 3,500 for maximum four people

Cooking at Kasbah...

Get a taste for Morocco with Kasbah Tamadot's cookery lessons. The cookery lessons are hands-on interactive sessions where our chefs will walk you step-by-step through how to make some of our more popular dishes. Sessions take place in the morning and afternoon and last approximately three hours. Each budding chef will have their own cooking station where they'll create a delicious three course meal including salads, soup, tagines and dessert. Then you'll have the pleasure of eating your culinary delights for dinner that evening for a maximum of 6 people per class. We ask for a minimum of 24 hours' notice.

Duration: 3 hours

Cost: MAD 1,550 per person

Tadmamte and Ourika Valley

Cross the valley to the opposite bank before taking the Oukaïmeden route that winds its way high above the Tamadant Valley. The scenery is impressive and passes ancient and isolated mountain villages. From this route you will enjoy amazing views of the High Atlas including North Africa's highest peak, Mount Toubkal. After lunch wind your way down the Ourika Valley, which is characterised by its beautiful scenery of fruit trees, little wooden bridges spanning the river to old houses and the magnificent backdrop of the Atlas Mountains. Please be aware that in heavy rain or snow the off-road track will be impassable and an alternative route will have to be followed. Please note the cost of lunch is not included with this tour.

Driving time: 6-7 hours

Cost: MAD 5,000 for maximum four people

Kik Plateau to Moulay Brahim

Take an off-road drive to view the beautiful Takerkoust Reservoir and the Kik Plateau. You will return to Kasbah Tamadot through the village of Moulay Brahim which is a local pilgrimage town for Moroccan Muslims where people come to make prayers for health, fertility, love and happiness.

Driving time: 3-4 hours

Cost: MAD 3,500 for maximum four people

Visit to the local craft houses...

The Eve Branson Foundation (EBF) was spearheaded by Richard's mum and has been helping those in the Berber communities surrounding Kasbah Tamadot since 2005. The aim is to offer long-term support by setting up sustainable initiatives, including craft houses managed by locals that teach skills to young women and men in the area. Take a visit to the woodwork and weaving centres in the neighbouring villages of Tansghart and Tamgounssi, where you can learn about the current projects over a cup of traditional mint tea.

Driving time: 2 hours

Cost: MAD 400 per person

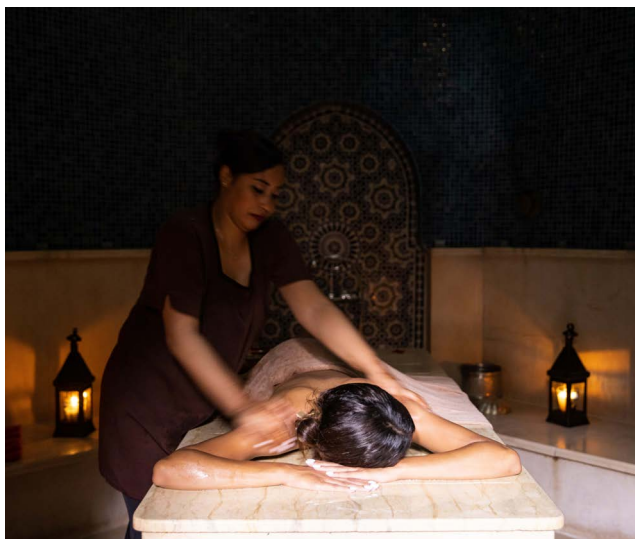

The payment made goes towards supporting EBF.
